Foster Care

Marie

To me if it wasn't for my foster parents, there wouldn't be no hope in me. They have shown me what life is about. That no matter who you are + where you came From someone out there Q's + care's about you. They are the highlight of my life. I respect them and think of them as my real parents. for once in my life I feel like I am someone. and also if it wasn't for my Social worker Then I wouldn't be in the home Im in, I think her a lot.

Foster care has changed my life for the better. I Love my foster mother and is greatful for the Wonderful home she has given me.

Foster care is wonderful. It has givin me an opportunity to groco into a young adult. I have a wonderful foster parent who took me and loved me like I coas her biological child. I feel like she is my birth parent.

My Home

I have to appreciate, love, respect, honor the people who step up to the plate to let someone that they don't know & have no history of, to come aid let live in their home and take them in as family and willing to treat them as an equal. That's such a big step in showing kindness and love of people.

The thing I like most about my foster parents is they treated me like family. I was only living there for a month before I started calling them mom and DAD. We had are ups and downs, moments where I swear they were going to give up on me but we both pulled through I can never show them enough ~~appreci~~ appreciation for what they did for me.

I Like and love the way you will never gave up on me
The same way so many people in my life have done

This is form Fred

I feel very blessed to have been placed in foster care. As I have said before, becoming a foster child has given me chances in life I never would have had. I was also blessed with a wonderful loving foster home, who has "unofficially" adopted me. I have had a life that any child would dream of having since I have been in foster care and I wouldn't give it up for anything. I have had great experiences since in care and I know I have more to come.

Foster Care

I was very exited when I heard about foster care month. I have been envolved in many conferences, within the State and out, and heard alot of good things about foster parents around the country. It makes me proud to be a foster child in Virginia because they express their appreciation to the foster parents who heave put so much time effort and love into the community. I myself love respect appreciate and thank my foster mother who took me in and treated me as her own. Foster Parent appreceation month is a wonderful way to thank all the people who have contributed so much.

I just wanna thank my former foster parents
Ginny Crone & John Stevens.
I would also like to thank my mentor David Huber. David, Ginny, and John I appreciate
everything you'll have done for me, nothing
means more to me
than your support.
Thank you, I love you.

Sincerely,
William (17)
